

The School of Medicine is committed to supporting every aspect of your medical school journey, which includes a well-rounded approach to your personal well-being and development. You'll find this support woven into your education and mentoring, along with the following programs and resources.

Wellness Council

The School of Medicine supports a Wellness Council comprised of two elected students from each class. The Council is responsible for organizing wellness events and contributing to the Wellness Chronicle, which is a quarterly publication on medical student wellness.

Counseling and Psychological Services

Omaha Campus:

On the Omaha campus, the Creighton University Center for Health and Counseling is intended to help students in their normal adjustments to medical school life and to the academic rigors of medical school. Specific resources available include individual counseling, educational and psychological testing, special programs in study skills, test taking, career choices, weight control, assertiveness training, relaxation training, and marital and relationship counseling. For additional information about the Student Counseling Services please review their webpage:

<https://studentlife.creighton.edu/wellness/health-and-counseling/student-counseling-services>.

Appointments can be made in person (Mutual of Omaha Center for Health and Counseling, Markoe Hall) or by phone (402-280-2735). Confidential information is not shared with parties outside the Center without express written consent, unless there is clear and imminent danger to the student or society.

The School of Medicine recommends that students in need of psychiatric services see a professional who is not involved in the evaluation and/or promotion of our students. Creighton University School of Medicine students may be referred to a consulting psychiatrist at Creighton University Center for Health and Counseling who is not a faculty member, or they may set up an appointment with a psychiatrist at Jones, Sedlacek, Nitcher, McGivern and McKee Psychiatric Services, P.C. who have agreed to see psychiatric referrals from the school. Appointments may be made at the Center for Health and Counseling by telephoning (402) 280-2735 or with Psychiatric Services, P.C. by telephoning (402) 399-9305 and mentioning that you are a Creighton University School of Medicine student. Psychiatric care provided at the Center for Health and Counseling is covered for students with health insurance through Creighton University. Students with outside insurance will be billed accordingly. All psychiatrists and psychologists with the Jones et al. practice are currently on the United Behavioral Health panel, therefore, students with Creighton University student health insurance are eligible to see them.

Phoenix Regional Campus:

Mental health services for students at the Phoenix Regional Campus are available through the Office of Student Life, Student Counseling Services. Services, including assessment and individual counseling, may be arranged by calling 402.280.2256 and informing the staff that you are a Phoenix student. There is no cost to students for these services.

If students need medications prescribed, they can make an appointment with the on-site clinician at the DMG CRS Clinic, 3141 N. 3rd Ave., Ste. 100, Phoenix, AZ 85013. Call (602) 512-3050 for an appointment. Identify yourself as a Creighton student when making the appointment. Bring your Creighton ID and insurance card to your scheduled appointment.

Additional health and wellness information is also available on the eWellness site in Blueline and at the Student Health Services website:
